

Toi-Lyn Everhart

Toi is a SoCal native armed with 10 years of experience in corporate event planning and marketing. Toi has planned, organized and run over 50+ events from not-for-profit fundraisers to big budget corporate trade shows. Her true passion resides in planning weddings. Toi has been planning events for as long as she can remember, from coordinating family gatherings at the age of ten, to making handmade invitations for her own birthday parties; flawless planning and entertaining is a part of her internal makeup.

One of Toi's greatest goals in life is to make sure people feel valued and appreciated through all of life's major milestones. Her long-time passion for weddings ensures that creativity and attention to every detail is put into bringing her client's vision to life and ensuring that each couple's unique personality and story is honored and reflected in their big day.

When Toi isn't planning weddings, you can often find her hiking, practicing yoga, dancing or rock climbing. A newlywed herself, Toi possesses both perspectives of being a professional wedding planner and a blushing bride.
